BETSY IN THE CITY HALL. The Amateur Dramatic Club have not lost any time in following up the Pankymine with another representation; and the performance of Belsy on Saturday night will unquestionably rank as one of the most enjoyable entertainments given in the comedy line by our look amateurs for many years past. This resuscitation of comedies: must be credited to Mr Chas Holliday, who, by the way, is a veteran on the Hougkong boards and can recall many of the historic auccesses of our I cal A. D. C. Mr Burnand's sparkling farcical comedy of Betsy, which was first produced at the Criterion in 1879, may be quite properly named, but the title role is by no means the most important character. Besides being too late in the day, our space forbids any detail of the plot, but it is not every piece which unravels itself as intelligibly to one who has not seen it as Betsy does. The adventures of a lively youth who is coddled by his mother long after he is heyond the influence of the apronstrings, and whose father declines to bother about, form the centre of what plot there is. Betsy, the smart servant-maid. makes a mintake in scheming to get the vouthful Adolphus for a husband; and the other by-play, which is of the rattling far-

RESIGNATION OF MR. JUSTICE

PELLEREAU. Official information has been received in for eight months, to be taken after ten weeks vacation leave, commencing on the 15th August 1890. Mr. Pellereau was then in an extremely delicate state of health, and it was generally supposed that he would not be able to return to his nost in the Straits. His leave was extended twice in 1891; on the 23rd June for six months with half my; and on the 23rd December 1891 without pay. On this last occasion we are informed that it was officially intimated to Mr. Pelleronu that if he was not able to take up his post at the end of that period, his resignation would be looked As a paisac Judge Mr. Polterant was noted liked by every mounter of the local bar. gale, which caused so much mischief, but
